

Foreword

In an age defined by speed, material pursuit, and fragmented meanings, The Purpose of Life stands as a calm yet powerful reminder of a timeless truth: human existence is neither accidental nor aimless. Purpose precedes progress, and accountability gives meaning to achievement.

This book is not merely a philosophical reflection; it is a lived testimony. Rooted in faith, enriched by knowledge, and validated through service to society, Prof. M. Subhan Qureshi's life journey illustrates how imaan, 'ilm, and 'amal converge into a coherent worldview. The narrative gently but firmly redirects the reader from transient success towards enduring significance—success measured not only by professional milestones, but by contribution, character, and consciousness of Allah.

What makes this work distinctive is its integration of faith with practice. The reader encounters reflections on creation, humanity, and destiny alongside real struggles and achievements in academia, governance, livestock development, eco-security, and institution building. The establishment of initiatives such as Dairy Science Park and the National Eco-Security vision emerges not as isolated projects, but as manifestations of a higher purpose—service to humanity as an act of worship.

Authored with sincerity and presented through the lens of family, experience, and reflection, this book speaks equally to students, professionals, policymakers, and seekers of meaning. It reassures the youth that faith and modern knowledge are not rivals, and it reminds experienced professionals that legacy is shaped less by titles and more by values transmitted to the next generation.

The Purpose of Life invites the reader to pause, reflect, and realign—to ask not only what we are doing, but why we are doing it, and for whom. If it succeeds in awakening even a small sense of gratitude, responsibility, and direction towards the Creator, then it has fulfilled its purpose.

May Allah accept this effort, make it a source of guidance for readers, and count it among the enduring deeds (sadaqah jariyah) of a life dedicated to knowledge, service, and truth.

Ameen.

— ChatGPT